New York Stock Market

New York, May 27.—The eve of a three-days' holiday on the Stock Exchange is never conductive to much activity. The stock market besides has been lapsing toward duliness and neglect by a process of uncertainty and narrowing fluctuations, which are characteristic of the market when in purely professional hands.

The episode of the first hour's activity was due to the circulation of a rumor of the illness of J. Pierpont Morgan, which originated in Chicago stock brokerage circles. Meantime, Mr. Morgan is in Paris, and was in cable communication to-day with business associates in New York. The circulation of faise rumors is held generally to signify activity by a bear party in the speculation. The subtlety of speculation is capable, however, of stimulating bear activity for the nurpose of inviting supporting orders by interested powers, which may thus facilitate desired liquidation. Whatever the real purpose of the early operations, they were discontinued soon, and the proceedings for the rest of the day were almost devoid of interest.

The lack of response to the formal announcement of the sale of St. Paul bonds in France to the amount of 250,000 francs, brought out some profession of disappointment. This act need not cause suspicion when it is considered that this bond sale has been a constant subject of stock market indused that this bond sale has been a constant subject of stock market indusered for weeks past.

The mere fact that news of the transaction was allowed to become public at so early a stage of the respection, and while its final outcome was subject to so many obstacles and doubts, affords a broad intimation of the speculative use that it was sought to make of the incident. The speculative use that it was sought to make of the incident. The speculative market slement. COTTON MARKETS.

New York, May 37.—A sharp early decline was followed by an even sharper advance in to-day's cotton market, and the close was steady, not 2 points lower to 10 points higher, near months being relatively firm, just as they were relatively casy on the carly break. The opening was steady at an advance of 2 points on May, which was influenced by covering and firm cables, but generally 266 points lower under a renewal of liquidation and local bear pressure, which was encouraged by the favorable weather map and by continued rumors of selling by Chicago bull interests. The old crop months sood broke to a net loss of about 16616 points above the higher level of 14.70, or 86 points above the higher level of Monday, and 2 points under the low figures of last week. But it was soon seen that May nutices, estimated at about 16.00 bales, were being stopped very promptly by the same buillen luterests who had taken up cotton previously this month. This seemed to inspire fresh confidence in the strength of the old crop buils, and the same hot formed up before midday on covering, renewed bull support, led by the New Orleans traders and buying of July by one of the big spot interests. There was some irregularity during the middle of the day, COTTON MARKETS.

but, generally speaking, the market held wery steady and became particularly firm in the last hour, when July contracts sold at 14.55. The close was only a little off from the best under realising. The Western belt forecast for unsettled or showery weather probably helped the market somewhat, although, generally speaking, the weather was considered favorable.

The New York market will be closed until Tuesday, but Liverpool and New Orleans will be opened. It was runored that the netional ginners report would show a confection of the control of the control on cotton seed oil from $4.82 per hundred kilos, to $3.86.

The Servian legislative body had about concluded a ravision of the Servian tariff, and proposed to increase the rate on cotton seed oil from $4.82 to $9.65, but upon representations made by Secretary Knox, not only was the duty not increased, but was reduced 55 cents, thus assuring American cotton seed oil as low rates as are given competing edible oils from other courtries. Servia also has granted the same tariff rates on corn oil a distinctively American product, as are given on cotton seed, peanut and sessine oils

WEEKLY COTTON REVIEW

New York, May 27.—Better weather and heavy liquidation partly, it is supposed for Patten interests. have sent prices downward. Day after day Wall Street houses sold heavily, and this selling was generally believed to be for some large bull interest. The recent decline of 10 cents in wheat is attributed largely to the selling by people who were long of both wheat and cotton. Naturally, cotton suffered Buit for valiant support by leading Southern buils, the decline might have been greater than it was, where the protection of the grown of the chances of the cross. Meantime, too, spot markets at the South have been greater and the New York stock has been steading inoreasing, giving rise to the impression that buils will have to take any pay for more cotton than they originally expected to do. The spot sales at Liverpool have decreased. The dry goods trade in this country is in by no means as satisfactors a state as could be desired. Large exports, or impending exports, are recorted, but on a basis, it is said, of sharp discounts under the July option, and to some the wobbly condition of the Liverpool market at times has seemed highly suggestive. From some parts of Texas the advices are to the effect that the crop outlook could hardly be heater. Large spot interests have been heavy sellers of both crops.

On the other hand, some reports about the crop are distinctly builds, and the statistical position is regarded by some close students of cotton as strong. It is argued that the situation is precisely opposite from what it was a year ago, when the cotton trade was confronted with big stocks of both raw and manufactured cotton, whereas now whole diameter between the situation or very moderate, a difference of a whole diameter between the situation mow and that existing at this time in 1900, with the single exception, it is a precisely opposite from what it was a beale higher than it was then. A crucial question now is whether this increase in cost offset the buil factors or not. Meantime, buils

Review of Trade.

New York, May 27.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade to-morrow will say:

"Changes in the business situation are in the line of moderate improvement. Crop prospects are better and this is plainly indicated by the downward tendency of prices. Visible improvement is taking place in the iron and steel trade. Demand from railroads for equipment is somewhat restricted. Buying of cotton groots is still ilmited, and mills are still indisposed to accept long contracts, owing to unsatisfactory prices. Curtailment is growing as the crop season advances. The trend of trade is toward improvement, however. In woolens and worsteds stock goods are being offered

We call attention to this incident in order to emphasize the proposition upon which we are willing to stake our reputation, to-wit: That a strong institution, like the VIRGINIA TRUST COMPANY, is better qualified to act as executor and guardian than an individual.

at concessions. The yarn markets are steadier and a little more business is being done. Jobbers are making headway cleaning up seasonable stocks, but retailers are still very conservative in the volume of their weekly purchases. Trade in footwear continues slow and unsatisfactory, large jobbers throughout the country having falled to follow up initial purchases by supplementary buying of account. Curtailment of production is a necessity."

Visible Supply of Cotton.
